Leaving for Candyland

Candy land is a(n)		place, full of wondrous
	[adje	ctive]	,
	and		, or at least, that's what
Suzie had always heard. Ever	r since she'd learne	ed about it as a	(n)
			[adjective]
child, Suzie had spent		dr	eaming about the day when [plural units of tir
she would have the chance _		Cai	ndyland with her own two
	Then, one		day, when she
[plural body part]		[adjective]
least expected it, her opport	unity came		at her front door
litarally Chayyas	lvern	ending in –ingj
literally. She was	sh anding in ingl	in her	[room in a house]
when she heard an earth-sha
when she heard an earth-she		nd effect]	coming from the direction of the front door.	•	•	Suzia
direction of the front door. A			adjective]
	to the door and
[movement-related verb ending with -ec	to the door and	[adverb, end	s in -ly]
it a bit. Imagine her amazem
		[fictitious cha	racter]
Candyland character, stood	on the other side, v	wearing a(n)
,	,	0 (, 	[adjective]
smile. "Suzie! The people of	Candyland are very	/	to meet
		[1	mood adjective]
you! Hop on my trusty			and I'll take you to them in
	[mode of transpo	rtation]
T	hrowing caution to	the wind, Suzi	e
[a period of time]			[verb, ending in -ed]
excitedly on board. "I can't b	elieve I'm meeting	the real you! I	've waited my whole life for this mon	nent!" "How _	!'
[adjective]			[adjective]
exclaimed	"Sind	ce we're
[same character	r as before]	[-	adjective]
friends now, please, call me			_!" Suzy couldn't believe he
	[term of endearm	nent]
	A g	guided tour of C	Candy land with her new and [plural body parts]
	frie	nd by her side?	She couldn't wait!
[adiective]

Bored Game Adventure

It was a(n)		and stormy afternoon. An hour earlier the [adjective]
electricity had gone out with	າ a		and after ex	hausting their
	[soun	d effect]
supply of spooky stories, bo	redom had set in; $_$			and
		1]	name #1]
	had nothing	g		to do. Out
of sheer desperation,		:	suggested th	ey look into the [name #1]
	depths of the ga	mes cabinet, b	ut the only b	ooard game
[adjective]	مة النجم	staat was Cand	uland Datar	minad
with all its[plural objects]	Still II	itact was cand	yiand. Deten	mineu
	their boredom a	way the two
[unconjugated verb – to	their boredoin a	way, the two _		tivel
siblings sat down to play. Th		me nieces and		avej sionings suc down to play. Th	cy a just chosen gai	ine pieces and	[verb	ending in –ed]
the board when a(n)		feeling cam
which lit the room		strangely, a	nd suddenly	they could both
which lit the room	erb ending in –ed]	_ 0 //	,	,
smell the sugary aroma of _		per	meating the	room. "What
	[type of candy, plu	ıral]
the	is happening	g?" cried
[singular object]			ſname	e #21
Suddenly, the two found the	emselves in		darl	kness. Then,
		[adjective]
with a sound like a		, light floode	d in. No long	ger were they oject that makes noise]
sitting in their				·
			room in a house]	found
Instead,	and	 [name #2]		_ louliu
themselves staring into a			antirely out	of themselves staring into a	[a nature landmar	made	. entirely out	. 01
	Their		wider	ned as they
[plural candy]	Their[plura	al body parts]
surveyed their surroundings	. Nearby trees grew	,		-looking
,	, 5		adjective]
	as if they were _			Finally
[plural candy]		[]	olural fruit]	_ ·
recovering from the awe,		turne	ed to [name #1]
	and said, "This is	going to be a	sweet adven	ture."
[name #2]						